

GOP wins at the 2026 Legalcommunity Tax Awards

During the event in Milan, the Firm was recognised in three categories

Milan, May 8, 2026 – International law firm Gianni & Origoni was honoured at the 2026 Legalcommunity Tax Awards, winning three awards.

The ceremony, held in Milan, celebrated excellence in the Italian tax market. The thirteenth edition of the event saw awards presented by the jury to law firms and individual professionals who distinguished themselves over the past year for their reputation and activity in the tax field.

Below are the jury's motivations:

Firm of the Year, Transfer Pricing

The Italian firm provided transfer pricing advice to some of the country's leading industrial groups. Among these was a multinational company involved in a substantial procedure aimed at correctly allocating profits, significant in light of net revenues of nearly €6 billion for the fiscal year under review.

Professional of the Year, EU Taxation – Francesca Staffieri

The accomplished professional advised a major industrial group on income flows arising from its membership in a European Economic Interest Grouping together with a pan-European partner that is among the world leaders in its reference industry.

Professional of the Year, Financial Taxation – Fabio Chiarenza

The professional provided tax advice in connection with the subscription of a complex sustainability-linked revolving financing structure, currently the most significant available on the European market. The transaction, which involved numerous financial institutions worldwide, required a strategic approach and deep technical expertise to successfully address the complex tax implications.
